Acknowledgments

I would like to thank my wife Margarita Cereijido for her love and support. Without her, each day, it would be much harder to stand up and confront the misleading ideas of economic orthodoxy that dominate textbooks, fill the media, and occupy the minds of economists and policymakers.

I would also like to thank Gemma Shields at Palgrave Macmillan for shepherding my book through to publication, the production team at Newgen Knowledge Works for their typesetting and production of the book, and the following for permission to use material I have previously published:

Contributions to Political Economy: “A theory of Minsky super-cycles and financial crises” (2011).

Eastern Economic Journal: “Inside debt and the stability of inflation” (2011).
